

Raise More Money for Your Great Cause!

You've discovered TravelPledge. Our unique program is much different (better) than old school "consignment" programs that you may be familiar with. We did a little research, and we quickly discovered why so many non-profit fundraising leaders shy away from consignment. Your share of the purchase price is far too low. Problem solved!

"Reasonable Sales Price": We'd love to think that everyone that attends a fundraising event is there to be generous. In reality, many items sell at only around 10% above the minimum bid, so the comparisons below are based on this realistic assumption.

Consignment

Minimum bid $3,500
Realistic winning bid: $3,850
Amount to you: $350

Your Share = 9%

Augusta Experience

VS

Minimum bid $3,500
Realistic winning bid: $3,850
Resort paid $1,925 (covers food)
Amount to you: $1,540

Your Share = 40%

St. Lucia Vacation

Minimum bid $4,500
Realistic winning bid: $4,950
Amount to you: $450

Your Share = 9%

African Safari

VS

Minimum bid $4,500
Realistic winning bid: $4,950
Amount to you: $1,980

Your Share = 40%

Golf Vacation

Minimum bid $400
Realistic winning bid: $440
Amount to you: $40

Your Share = 9%

Namath Helmet

VS

Minimum bid $400
Realistic winning bid: $440
Amount to you: $352

Your Share = 80%

Golf Foursome

TravelPledge requires all participating vacation providers to donate either half or all of the purchase price. Golf courses that want to participate (OneSpareTeeTime.com) must donate all of the value of the certificates that they post. Plus, we're now adding restaurants, retailers, tour providers, cruises, lessons, and more, and we'll continue to maximize your donations on all of these.

Get Started

Watch "No Consignment" Video